- Except for L10, the equipment (width, height) may be different for each team member. Provinces will always be given the option to warm up as a team (the time belongs to the entire team) or as individuals (time belongs to each athlete).
- If athletes in a given rotation use different equipment specs (width, height), coaches must discuss and agree on how the warm up will be conducted, before approaching the judges table.
- Competition order can be modified on Vault, Bars and Beam to accommodate equipment changes. Athletes using the same equipment specs will be allowed to warm up and compete as sub-groups (all athletes using vault at 125 cm warm up and compete, then all gymnasts using vault at 115 cm warm up and compete).
- On UB, if there is only one gymnast at a given height/width, she can warm up the low bar elements with other gymnasts, then use the equivalent remaining time to warm up high bar elements. She can also raise the bars and take the entire time; in that case, judges will then be lenient because she does not have the option to share the warm up time with other athletes.

KYLE SHEWFELT AWARDS PRESENTATION SCRIPT

A proud Canadian, Kyle began his gymnastics career at the age of six when his mother enrolled him in an Alberta Gymnastics program. Kyle’s passion for the sport quickly ignited and he soon realized it would be a lifelong pursuit.

Kyle is Canada’s most successful male artistic gymnast in history. He is a three-time Olympian (2000, 2004, 2008) and multiple World Championships, Commonwealth Games and World Cup medalist. His stirring performance at the 2004 Athens Olympics earned him Canada’s first and only Olympic medal in the sport of artistic gymnastics – a Gold in the Floor Exercise. It motivated thousands of participants to flip into gyms across the nation.

We are proud to present this award on behalf of Kyle Shewfelt. Congratulations.
